WE NOMINATE

Donald Lewis Rose, one of the most unassuming and yet one of the most spectacularly successful coaches in Princeton University's modern athletic history. Last Saturday here on Carnegie Lake, some ten weeks after he had launched his coaching career, this 25-year old graduate of the University of Wisconsin watched two of his three Princeton lightweight crews carry off the equivalent of national championships. His freshman lightweights, dominated by men in their first year of rowing, easily outdistanced their opposition, while the varsity 150-pounders, pressed to the limit by Cornell, set two new records for the Henley course (one and 5/16 miles) and by capturing the Joseph Wright Trophy set the stage for another Princeton appearance at Henley-on-Thames, England, in early July.

The first to give all possible credit to his associates and to his predecessor, John R. Stiegman, as director of Princeton's lightweight rowing program, Rose is one of the few former coxswains now active in college coaching. In fact, it is quite possible that this close-cropped Army veteran, whose interest in rowing led him to Wisconsin, the only major "rowing institution" in the Middle West, may be the smallest coach in any branch of American sport. Pointing out that "my physical characteristics were all for me in fullfilling my ambitions as a college undergraduate," Rose stands five feet, two inches (nearly a full foot below the average height of his varsity oarsmen) and weighs some 115 pounds (or 15 pounds less than his varsity coxswain.)

Rose, a native of Elmhurst, Ill., and a graduate of Central High School in Sheboygan, Wisc., reported for rowing his first day on the Wisconsin campus and forged the partnership with coach Norman Sonju which was to lead to his appointment here some six years later when Princeton sought out nominees for the vacancy created by Stiegman's departure for Rutgers. A fixture in the Wisconsin crews of 1952 and 1953, that placed "well up" in both the Eastern Sprint Championships and the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta at Syracuse, N. Y., Rose "majored" in journalism and was graduated in 1953 with an infantry reserve commission. He had also proved himself an able gymnast, winning state championships in several events.

During two years of active duty with the Army, Rose completed normal training with the infantry and at Fort Carson, Colo., "because of my love for dogs," qualified for one of the Army's most unusual assignments—commanding officer of a scout dog platoon composed of 27 "nearly human" German Shepherd dogs and 21 human specialists. Rose's platoon, attached to the 10th Infantry Division, trained almost exclusively at night, a regimen that left him with the hope that the future would at least bring more normal hours. He returned to civilian life early last summer and in the months preceding the call to Princeton served as a sports reporter with the LaCrosse, Wisc., Tribune.

For making the most of what he terms "opportunities created for me by others;" for looking to the years ahead with the conviction that coaching is teaching at its best and that teaching is the most rewarding of all professions; this newcomer to the Princeton scene is Town Topics' nominee as Expansion Plans. Bits and snatches of information have been accumulating for some months, but when the long-range expansion plans of Princeton University were made public this week in a generalized form, they indicated as profound a forthcoming change in the community as any other major development has produced here.

The plan is mostly thinking for the future, subject to many kinds of revision under changing circumstances; essentially it is a guide to physical growth. However, President Dodds sounded a keynote in the announcement by asserting that in the face of a larger college-age population, Princeton will most likely meet its obligation to higher education in America by some expansion of the Graduate College.

The undergraduate college will continue to be the core of Princeton, and the plan doesn't call for rapid expansion. Still, every indication is that a new five-unit quadrangle for the School of Engineering is soon to be under way.

Labelled the first undertaking, the engineering expansion will be located on the section from Charlton Street to University Field. Plans are already on the drawing board, and within the last year Princeton has bought privately-owned lots on Charlton and issued notices for next December.

The Princeton Jewish Center on Olden Avenue has already started planning construction of a new synagogue, following a University request to move after June. The Borough Board of Education vacates the $1-a-year corner playground July 1.

The engineering expansion reflects the massive strides of technology, opening of new areas of engineering, significant research supported by the government, industry and foundations, and at Princeton itself, more than tripling of the engineering enrollment in a quarter-century. More efficient and modern space is required for the engineering program today, particularly in graduate research programs.

A list of 11 other proposals of the new, (still quite tentative) master plan will be found in the box on Page 3. They raise a number of questions — among them, financing and future faculty housing plans.

President Dodds in his statement asserted that no cost estimate of the entire plan has been attempted because of its long-range aspects, and that appeals to benefactors with specific interests rather than a capital fund-raising campaign would be employed. One unofficial estimate being circulated is a $25 million program for the first ten years of growth.

Housing will be another question mark. It's expected that there will be some increase in undergraduate enrollment, plus graduate expansion — so an increased faculty appears likely. Already faced with a tight housing situtation in Princeton, the University may be planning to employ some of the open areas it now owns south of College

Which Way, Corrigan?

While Borough officials and State Highway Department thinkers and even Princeton motorists bothered themselves with the varied problems created by the infant Nassau-Bayard-Stockton traffic lights, one man was concerned with a perplexer involving the intersection that no one else shared. In the jargon of our day, it was "strictly his baby."

The chauffeur for Mrs. Edgar Palmer, 1 Bayard Lane, really couldn't decide which way to turn. Each time he drove out of the Palmer mansion's front driveway — and there was no other front exit— he found himself smack dab in the middle of two sets of lights, unsure of which set to obey. Whatever his decision, he usually had to wait for minutes on end until traffic from one direction or another subsided and gave him an opening.

At week's end, Mrs. Palmer thought about coming to the aid of her "Wrong Way Corrigan" (no matter which way). Her suggestion: "Maybe we'll connect our front and rear driveways, and leave the house by way of Bayard Lane."

ON THE SCENE

Traffic Tragedy. Despite Princeton's long-standing reputation as a safe traffic town and her recent efforts to curtail 1956's mounting number of serious accidents, fate stepped in this week and registered the third highway fatality of the year here. A 13-year-old boy, Alan Jensen, was killed almost instantly in the Borough in a tragic mishap that definitely appeared out of the driver's hands (see story, page 4).

Meanwhile, Oscar S. Stillwell, 80, was reported in "critical condition—just about the same" at Princeton Hospital, where he was taken following a bad head-on collision three weeks ago. Law enforcers of both Borough and Township are seeking desperately to determine a solution to a problem that may result in Princeton's worst traffic year.

One spokesman suggested more and better driver education "for pedestrian as well as driver" and others agreed that might be the answer.

Art for All Again. A wonderful experiment in bringing modern art to the people of Princeton will be repeated again this year accordig to plans underway for the second annual Princeton Merchants Art Exhibition.

The event will take place from June 1 to 13, sponsored by the JayCees and Town Topics. Because of tremendous interest and enthusiasm expressed in last year's pioneering effort to bring art into contact with everyday life, the exhibition this year will be increased to 30 paintings, done by outstanding figures in the art world and lent by top New York galleries.

The idea is based on theory that the so-called difficulties of modern art will not seem so great to busy people if they pause and look while going about their normal day. So the two-week exhibition will find some of the leading examples of modern paintings hung in the windows of stores on Nassau Street and Witherspoon Street.

The works have been chosen by JayCee officer Larom B. Munson, director of The Little Gallery who originated the idea a year ago. Walter B. Foster, Jr. heads the JayCees Organizing Committee.

Tradition Revived. The Stadium Fireworks Show, a fixture in Princeton for a quarter-century until it was suspended in 1952, will return to the scene this July 4, once again under the sponsorship of Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion.

Palmer Stadium will be available for the show, which over the years has attracted thousands of spectators. Major repair work on the concrete horseshoe in the recent summers have forced the hiatus. The Legion's successful bid to restore its show apparently dooms a bid by the Merchants Association of the Shopping Center to stage the patriotic display on the mall of the center.

Social Service Shake-Up. It's understood that a sweeping revision is in prospect for the Social Service Bureau, based on changes in the constitution to be brought up for adoption at a meeting Monday evening at 8 at 120 John Street.

The committee in charge of constitutional revision named from the board includes Mrs. J. Douglas Brown, Mrs. DeWitt Clinton Jones and Mrs. Douglas Delanoy. A broadening of the bureau's sphere is in prospect.

Dog Law. One of the more amazing cases to appear in Magistrate Louis R. Gerber's courtroom was heard Tuesday — all about whose dog doings belongs where.

Miss Helen Saller, 434 Walnut Lane, charged her neighbor, Mrs. Marie Kinyon, 66 Cuyler Road, with emptying a shovelful of dog "calling cards" on her premises. Because the Township's dog ordinance doesn't cover the subject, Miss Saller brought the charge under the garbage and rubbish ordinance.

Mrs. Kinyon counter-charged that Miss Saller's dog had left the "calling cards" on the Kinyon property in the first place—ruining the lawn. Her retort: "I only tonk it over as a joke to show her what her dog was doing, . . . Actually, I was returning what belonged to her.

Magistrate Gerber told the bemused courtroom that the Township needs a dog ordinance with teeth in it to meet such situations hoped that people with dogs would respect the rights of others, and dismissed the case as not applicable under garbage and rubbish.

WIDE-SCREEN PICTURE

Quo Vadis? Without much formal fanfare, Princeton area planners are giving the much-maligned concept of "regional thinking" a run for its money this week. Under consideration, minus the usual hally-hoo, are such wide-range, long-range regional shorts-in-the-arm as a by-pass, an improved watershed, a county-wide police training school and even a do-something program by the County Planning Board.

Local attention was drawn to the idea of regional planning at this month's meeting of the Borough Planning Board. Councilman Tristam Johnson raised the question and John P. Wooldridge, Princetonian with broad Trenton interests, rallied behind him with the statement, "We're blind if we don't realize what's going on in the area."

While there was doubt over the effectiveness of regional planning, Mayor Sturges pointed out that Borough, Township and Princeton University leaders will

Master Plan "Might-"

These are among the far-reaching possibilities of Princeton University's long - range master plan prepared by architect Douglas Orr of New Haven (1), in association with President Dodds, the trustees and others:

- Either the Department of Geology or the Department of Biology might move into a renovated John C. Green Engineering Building (on Washington Road), leaving its share of Guyot Hall for the remaining department's own expansion.
- The old Chemical Engineering Building across from Firestone Library at Washington Road and Nassau Street might be converted to storage space for infrequently-used library books, already becoming a burden.
- The space along William Street between Washington and Olden could provide locations for new buildings for the sciences and other academic purposes.
- Location of additional housing for graduate students is already under study; there's room near the present Graduate College.
- New dormitories when built will be located along the northern edge of the present playing fields, with the latter extended to the south. (1915 Hall, finished in 1949, is the only dormitory erected since 1933.)
- New dining facilities in the proposed new dormitory area might be added to relieve the already overcrowded underclass dining halls.
- Dormitories such as Reunion Hall are approaching 100 years and becoming more expensive to maintain; Reunion might be converted or replaced by an administrative office building.
- 1879 Hall facing Prospect Street might be converted to provide needed office space and preceptorial rooms for departments in the humanities or social sciences.
- The Department of Music, greatly expanded in the past two decades, requires additional facilities, including an auditorium, teaching and practice space.
- The School of Architecture needs a new building and one might be located on the other side of Prospect facing across the lawn to 1879 Hall.
- When the School of Architecture departs from McCormick Hall, the Department of Art and Archaeology can expand its teaching space and increase museum space.

convene once more next Thursday to weigh the merits of the still-possible Somerville-to-Hightstown by-pass of Princeton. "Inasmuch as the by-pass would go through 11 municipalities and three counties, I'd call it a matter of regional planning," he said.

Meanwhile, police chiefs of Mercer County kept pushing the freeholders for funds for their far-reaching training program—"to let the right hand know what the left hand is doing" — and moneyed backers of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association continued their outstanding efforts, based on topographical rather than county needs.

"Regional thinking" seemed to be here to stay.

ROUNDUP

Summer temperatures (88) hit over the weekend . . . and a clerk at the A&P reported the first barefoot shopper of the season. . . . Princeton Post No. 76 announced this week that the May scrap paper collection was postponed because of Mother's Day, will be held this Sunday.

It's almost official that Princeton's championship 150-lb. crew will go to the famous Henley Regatta in England this summer. . . . The last innings of the PUC hearing on Princeton Water Company's application for a 57% rate increase are slated for next Wednesday in Newark.

The Township's only package store liquor license shifts to the Shopping Center in June, after five years of trying. . . . Magistrate Louis R. Gerber's salary has been boosted $300 to $1800 effective as of January 1. . . . Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro in the Borough gets $3,000. . . . The Pennsylvania Railroad will ask for a 5% rate increase on non-commutation fares.

PERSONALITIES

Jack Petrone, 137 Valley Road, one of the Township's youthful patrolmen, has been elected president of his class at the State Police school for municipal officers and is reported earning high grades in the training course.

Douglas N. Watson, 37 Fisher Avenue, showed once again that he likes to wear a uniform by accepting the Borough police force blue after the post office department's gray, the Army's khaki and the Pennsylvania Railroad's black (see photo, page 10). He's never had a job out of uniform.

Neil Volweider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Volweider, 28 Woodland Drive, proved himself Princeton High's BMOC by receiving 507 votes, a solid majority of those cast, and thus winning the school's most coveted governmental post, president of the Student Council (for 1956-57).

Woodrow Wirsig, 682 Ewing Street, gathered the Gold Medal for outstanding public service, most coveted of the annual Benjamin Franklin Magazine Awards, for the Woman's Home Companion of which he is editor. The award made through the University of Illinois went for the Companion's series "To Help Our Children."

Topics of the Town

Research Park Delayed. A zoning amendment which will allow creation of Princeton Research Park on a 66-acre site near the Shopping Center failed to make its next hurdle at Monday's session of the Township Committee.

Planned discussion and first reading did not materialize when the amendment was held back for "technical changes" in the form of the ordinance. It's understood that the developers wish to review certain of the restrictions planned for the new research zone.

Informal meetings were to be held this week on the revisions and a special meeting of the Planning Board is likely for next week. The Planning Board had earlier sped the multi-million dollar proposal on its way with unanimous approval of the zoning amendment. Township officials are known to welcome research developments.

Liquor Store to Center. Claridge Wine & Liquor Co., located for the past 17 years at 40 Leigh Avenue, will transfer to the Shopping Center effective June 25. The new location will be next to the A&P pickup entrance on the outer side of the building.

The lease was arranged late last month by George Warnecke, owner of the center, and Mrs. Claire R. Levine, president of Claridge. The transfer of the license was approved by the Township Committee on Monday.

Mrs. Levine has announced that the store will be open at first from 9 to 8 Monday-Wednesday and Saturday and 'til 9 p.m. Thursdays and 10 p.m. Fridays. Free delivery will be offered. L. C. Bowers and Sons is handling the interior remodeling and the architect is John C. Diehl of Clover Lane. The new store will quadruple the floor space of the liquor concern.

Township Round-Up. The Township Committee, with Committeeman Hugh D. Wise Jr. presiding in the absence of Mayor Wallace, also took the following action:

- Heard a petition from residents of Deerpath and Clover Lane calling for erection of speed limit and children at play signs on the two non-public streets. The move, while favored, will be studied for legality.
- Told Mrs. Geraldine Jones, 81 Clay Street, that her application for a taxi driver's license to help support her family will be treated just the same as one from a male applicant if she will meet the same terms and conditions.

Twin Killed By Auto. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in Niles Memorial Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church for Alan Jensen, 13-year-old twin who was hit by a car and killed on Nassau Street Monday evening. Friends of the youth may call at Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue, Friday afternoon and evening.

Son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Jensen, 159 Cedar Lane, the boy was struck after getting out of a westbound Boy Scout bus on the north side of Nassau and dashing behind the vehicle into the south lane. Robert J. Pressley, 1065 Princeton-Kingston Road, reportedly driving within the speed limit of 30 miles per hour, did not see the youth until he darted in front of his car, and then it was too late to prevent hitting him.

Dean Jensen, Alan's twin, told police he was walking behind his brother and, at the last split second, saw the lights of Mr. Pressley's eastbound auto. He was able to stop in the north lane in back of the then-departing bus and keep from being struck himself, but his scream came too late to alert his brother. Alan was felled at 9:07 p.m. and, despite a quick ambulance run to Princeton Hospital, died 33 minutes later of multiple internal injuries.

In accordance with mandatory procedure, Mr. Pressley, a research engineer at RCA Laboratories, where Dr. Jensen also is a research physicist, was brought before Borough Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro to face a charge of death by automobile. Police investigators speculated that the driver would be absolved of any blame due to the unavoidable circumstances of the tragedy. As directed by law, the magistrate forwarded facts of the matter to Trenton authorities for further action, if any.

Born in Annapolis, Alan came to Princeton with his parents and brother in 1947. At the time of his death, he was an eighth grader at Valley Road School, where he was a member of the band, orchestra and choir. He also was a First Class Scout with Troop 88, a den chief of Pack 77, a licensed amateur radio operator and a member of the First Presbyterian Church's Sunday School.

Surviving, in addition to his parents and brother, are his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton W. Reed of Morrisville and Mr. and Mrs. Emil A. Jensen of Trenton. He was a godchild of Captain and Mrs. Frederick K. Elder, USN, of Annapolis.

Credit Where It's Due

More than a few residents of the Harrison Street housing project, admittedly skeptical of the Princeton Fire Department's prowess due to the development's distance from town and the fact that the department is volunteer-staffed, changed their tunes in a hurry this week. After two general alarms, which the volunteers controlled well and with dispatch, residents of the area heaped praise on the firefighters.

The first blaze broke out at 9:12 p. m. on May 9, when an overheated oil heater in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Norman, 225C King Street, exploded. The second project fire in five days occurred at 1:32 a. m. Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Brothers, 401A Butler Avenue, where a refrigerator exploded and caused considerable kitchen damage. Both fires were confined to single rooms, with fire equipment back in the stations within an hour's time.

Weary firemen might doubt the necessity of general alarms for such minor blazes (from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m., generals are automatic for all fires), but Harrison Street skeptics were delighted to learn from the rapid and heavy turnout that they are capably protected.

Dean Taylor Honored. Dr. Hugh S. Taylor, Dean of the Graduate College at Princeton University, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science Wednesday afternoon from St. Francis Xavier University, Nova Scotia. Praised for his numerous scientific achievements and for combining them with spiritual qualities, he was cited in this fashion:

"During this period, one man perhaps above all others has given a shining example of that breadth of vision and strength of responsibility that may dwell in harmony with a great scientific mind." A British subject, Dr. Taylor has been knigted by the King of England for his notable achievements.

"Advance" Lab to Move. Food Machinery & Chemical Corporation (FMC), now building extensive research laboratories along Route 1 near the Plainsboro Road, reported this week that construction will be completed about midsummer. At that time, a novel experiment in industry-university cooperation between FMC and New York University's College of Engineering will reach its culmination.

The experiment began last fall when the college's research division and FMC established an "advance" research laboratory on NYU's Bronx campus. When FMC completes its central chemical research laboratores here, the unit at NYU—bag and baggage and together with personnel—will move to the Princeton site.

Meanwhile, under the FMC-NYU contract, a five-man research team has access to the Engineering Research Division's facilities and to the consultation services of faculty and staff members. In addition, an NYU graduate student assisting in the research has received a $3,000 FMC fellowship for study toward advanced degrees in chemical engineering.

News of the Theatres

McCARTER THEATRE

Corneila Otis Skinner of one-woman-show fame and magician Fred Keating will be teamed together as a special event on two evenings at McCarter Theatre. The nights are Thursday, June 7, and Saturday, June 9, sandwiched around a Friday night performance which has been reserved for Princeton Alumni and wives at the annual Reunion festivities.

The name of the show is "Characters and Chicanery," combining two of the theatre's famous "singles." Miss Skinner's one-woman shows have included "The Wives of Henry VIII" and "Paris '90" (which played the McCarter). Mr. Keating has long been associated with "Birdcage" because of the beloved vanishing trick.

The reason for their Reunion appearance here stems from the fact that this June will be the 25th Reunion for the Class of '31, which includes Norris Houghton among its theatrically famed members.

Mr. Houghton is co-director of the outstanding Phoenix Theatre in New York and originally assembled the Skinner-Keating evening this winter. The critics loved it and called for more, but "Characters and Chicanery" was one of the "Phoenix Side Shows" and played one night only. It will be reassembled specially for the Princeton engagement.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

"Anastasia," the recent broadway hit, will he the second attraction at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, opening Monday for a week's run. "The Solid Gold Cadillac" starring Billie Burke is winding up its stand with performances nightly through Saturday and a 2:00 p.m. matinee closing day.

Mary Sinclair and Howard Da Silva will be starred in "Anastasia." Miss Sinclair has reached fame through the medium of dramatic shows on television. She has appeared in some 67 major network productions to date, and has branched into films and appearances with the American Theatre in Paris.

Mr. Da Silva's most recent important role was in last season's "The World of Sholom Aleichem." He is remembered as Jud in "Oklahoma!", a role he created in the original cast. He has also appeared in such major plays as "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," "Waiting for Lefty," "Golden Boy," "Burning Bright" and with Eva LeGallienne's repertory company.

Other members of the cast for "Anastasia" are Miriam Phillips, Joseph Macaulay, Thomson

Story of Witchcraft

"The Crucible," written by Arthur ("Death of a Salesman") Miller and rated one of the best Broadway plays of the 1953 season, will be presented next week by the Princeton Community Players. To be staged in Murray Theatre from Wednesday through Saturday, it will be directed by John F. Becker.

Dealing in intensely dramatic form with Salem witchcraft and the implications such thinking has carried down into the 20th century, the play will be given as a "concert reading." It has been selected as a replacement for "No Mother to Guide Her," the melodrama cancelled last week when too numerous casting problems were encountered.

Bryon Keene, Michael DeBaum, Betty Fussell, Lorin Zissman, Moyne Smith, Sarah Snow and Phebe Gulick are among those with principal roles in "The Crucible." Tickets are priced at $1 for Wednesday and Thursday and $1.50 Friday and Saturday.

Music in Princeton

UNIVERSITY CONCERTS

Preview of 1956-'57. The Princeton University Concerts committee has announced its programs for the 1956-'57 season, the 63rd year for the series in Princeton. Subscriptions are now being taken for Series One and Series Two, filled in order of receipt. (See full ticket information on this page.)

The concerts will once again provide interesting and varied music performed by outstanding soloists and musical organizations at prices well below cost, through the cooperation of the University and endowment from the Philena Fobes Fine and Jessie Peabody Frothingham memorial funds.

The Cleveland Symphony will not appear here next season, for the first time in some years. In its place will be the Berlin Philharmonic, opening Series One on October 8. The noted organization of 106 members will be touring this country briefly. The conductor is Herbert von Karajan, who was named to the post two years ago, succeeding the late Wilhelm Furtwaengler.

Following will be the outstanding violinist Isaac Stern, and Solomon, the pianist. The latter artist first appeared in London at the age of nine, and has kept his one-name billing throughout his years of performing all over the globe.

Series One will conclude with the appearance of the New York Concert Choir, directed by Margaret Hillis. The group was formed to provide a full season of musical activity comparable to that of major orchestras for the rich body of choral repetoire.

First of five concerts in Series Two will be a return appearance of the Societa Corelli, a group of 14 string players who scored here with music from the baroque and classical periods.

The Robert Masters Piano Quartet will follow, while the remainder of the series will be devoted to chamber music organizations. The Budapest String Quartet will play two concerts in January, while the Vienna Octet, composed of the first-deck players of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, will conclude the series.

Members of the concert committee include Professor Elliot Forbes, chairman; Mrs. James Barnes, Mrs. Harold W. Dodds, Mrs. McClintock Ellis, Mrs. Samuel Lambert, Jr., Mrs. Bradford B. Locke, Mrs. Walter Lowrie, Mrs. C. McKim Norton, Mrs. Roy D. Welch, Mrs. Ernest G. Wever, Mrs. Wilbur M. Young, Professor Edward T. Cone, Professor Ernest T. DeWald, Professor Edward Hubler, Professor Carroll C. Pratt and A. David Shoup, Jr.

COMING EVENTS

Princeton Composers' Recital. The last in a series of three concerts devoted to the music of student and faculty composers will be presented this Sunday at 3:30 in the auditorium of Clio Hall. Admission is free and the event is sponsored by the music department at Princeton with the Friends of Music.

Vocal music will predominate, with two sets of songs, a composition for soprano and string quartet, a short cantata for women's voices and a piece for narrator and piano included.

The program will open with a Piece for Piano composed and played by Roger Kamien, who gave a solo recital earlier this year. Three Songs on Shakespearian texts by Gerhart Reichlin will follow. The songs by the Vienna-born composer will be sung by Janice Harsanyi, accompanied by Mr. Kamien.

David Lewin will perform his "Thy Brother's Blood," a narrated text by Jones Very, followed by a Sonata for Viola and Piano by Robert Cogan. The first half will close with Peter Westergaard's "A Plot Against the Giant," a chamber cantata for women's voices and three instruments on a text by Wallace Stevens.

The second half of the program will begin with the "The Seasons," a song cycle by David Epstein using texts by Emily Dickinson. Mrs. Harsanyi will sing the cycle, with the composer at the piano.

Irvin Gilman, flutist, and Mr. Lewin will perform Eric Salzman's Sonata for Flute and Piano. Mr. Salzman's string quartet was performed in the first concert of the series.

The concert will close with "The Habit of Perfection" for saprano and string quartet by Godfrey Winham. The text is by Gerard Manley Hopkins and the vocal part will be sung by Miss Bethany Beardslee.

Jazz Concert Saturday. Stan Rubin and his Tigertown Five will make their second annual appearance in McCarter Theatre this Saturday evening at 8:30 p.m. The youthful and famed jazz group, developed while at Princeton, will play a full program of Dixieland favorites.

Tickets are still available through members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the affair, and at Hinkson's, Princeton Stationers and the University Store.

Tenor Recital. The Friends of Music will present Robert Cowden '56, tenor, in a vocal recital this Friday afternoon at 4 in the auditorium of Clio Hall. He will be accompanied by Robert Morgan '56.

Mr. Cowden, a philosophy major, has been studying voice with Miss Ann Luckey. His program will include selections by Handel, Dowland, Warlock and Vaughan Williams.

Piano Recital. Pupils of Mrs. Naomi Jury Chandler will perform at a recital this Saturday at 3:30 in the Present Day Club. Among the performers will be Catherine Christian, who was soloist with the Princeton Symphony at the children's concert in February.

Other students who will appear include: Peggy Sussman,

It's New to Us

Ice Breaker. Nothing breaks the ice at a cocktail party like an ice crusher. New ones at Farr Hardware give you a choice of everything from pulverized ice granules to a svelte little "ladies" ice-cube.

If you have a Waring Blendor, you may buy a jet ice crusher that shoots along a chute right into your glass. Costs $16.95. Or you may buy an Oster electric meat grinder—more of its carnivorous activities in a moment—that has a $10 ice crushing attachment. Grinder is $49.95.

Hosts whose ice requirements are not quite so refined may prefer one of two new aluminum ice trays. The first one molds "ice-slices" half an inch thick, and its big brother makes something called a cocktail cube that's smaller than a regular ice cube but larger than a slice. (Why not use a regular ice cube and let it melt down to size?)

Now about that meat grinder. This hefty little Marty is electric, and built precisely like the big ones they have in butcher shops.

You press in the meat with a wooden mallet, catch it when it comes out, and make it into a hamburger on one of Farr's new hamburger presses that makes two different thickness. (Press is 98c, complete with Texas-style handle.)

Farr's other new electric appliance is a watched pot that's sure to boil. It's G.E.'s "Speed Kettle", built to boil a pint of water in 1¾ minutes, or a quart in four minutes.

Mixed-Up Mary

With vodka on its way to becoming the national drink this was bound to happen: you can now buy a Bloody Mary mix and a Screwdriver mix, packaged with great decorum in little juice cans. We found them both at Community Wine and Liquor, 20 Witherspoon.

Twelve ounces of Bloody Mary mix contains tomato puree, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, sugar and salt. It's engineered to give three drinks, which means three jiggers of vodka per can.

Screwdriver mix is an orange juice concentrate with sugar, citric acid and orange oil added. After dilution, the can makes a quart (you dilute it with water, please, not with vodka!), and you add three ounces of the diluted mix to a jigger of vodka. (Bartenders who dispute this recipe will please not write letters to the editor. We are only quoting the label on the can.)

Good housewives will, of course, note the resemblance of Bloody Mary and Screwdriver mixes to the morning glass of juice, and will perhaps lay in a few cans for emergencies. "Hurry, children, it's late: drink your Bloody Mary and run off to school."

It has a copper top, a whistle, and a device that shuts off the kettle automatically when the water has boiled away. For $16.95.

For the other side of the kitchen, Farr has a series of little magnetized racks that you fasten to the side of your refrigerator. A 12-inch one has enough hooks for several kitchen tools. The six-incher could hold the rest. No suction, no nails, just a steadfast magnet.

There is a magnetized towel-holder, too, which consists of one hook. This is 98c, the others are $1.29 and $1.95 depending on size. You can use them on any metal cabinet, of course.

To keep herds of small animals from using the kitchen as a water hole on hot after-school afternoons, Farr offers a bubbler fountain for your yard. Attach it to the outside faucet, press a button, and get a jet of water to drink.

Fountain is rust-proof, jet is inclined so that nobody picks up germs, and the whole device can be adjusted to the angle of your particular sill cock. It costs $3.75.

The Well-Adjusted Child. If your baby has been unhappy in his playpen, stop to consider: perhaps he is a round peg in a square hole. For the benefit of these little ones, Allen's now has a round play-pen. It is 40 inches in diameter, made of aluminum so light that its occupant can almost carry it himself, and collapsible as a card-table. Collapsible only if you're on the outside of it, we hasten to add. The baby is quite safe inside.

It has a fence of white nylon net two and a half feet high that you can take off and wash. You can even mend it with extra yarn that comes with the playpen. A plastic pad slips into the bottom. Price is $29.98, at 134 Nassau.

Here's the first chair for a baby who still can't sit up. It is upholstered, covered with nursery plastic and inclined at just the right angle to hold a young baby comfortably.

There are metal handles at each end in case you want to carry both chair and baby. Its manufacturers call this chair "a complete cure for boredom and loneliness"—for the baby, that is.

Girls from seven to 14 will like a new gabardine poplin raincoat, tan with a Joseph's coat lining in deeply colored stripes. It has a matching hat with narrow turn—Continued on Page 8 ed down brim, and a button and ribbon just like the lining.

For brothers there is a chino jacket, unlined and cool for summer social life. Sizes from four, prices $6.98 and $7.98 depending on size.

The smallest sister may wear one of Allen's new sunsuits in seersucker or cotton and decron plisse. It is impossible to describe these enchanting sunsuits without being unbearably sticky. They have full bloomer legs (plenty of room for diapers and rubber pants) with lace or nylon ruffles at the edge.

The bibs are edged with the same ruffle. Some designs have a rosebud cluster at the waist, others have two small satin bows, one on each side. Colors are white or pastel with flower buds, or triangular polka "dots", and the entire collection has irresistible charm. Priced at $2.98.

Carter has produced a shorty pajama for girls (4-16) in pink or blue with white. The surprise in this production is a similar pair for mother — sizes 32-36. Mother has been spared smocking and puffed sleeves, but otherwise the sets are exactly alike.

A cardigan of terry has navy or red around its crew neck. Toddlers wear this one, matching it with a pair of minute terry briefs with navy or red leg bands. Briefs are $1,—they are about the size of a wash cloth--cardigan is $2.

Cool Air. Having built up a thriving business in cool music the Princeton Listening Post has, as you know, turned to the business of providing cool air, and you may now find air conditioners next to the record bins at this shop (164 Nassau.)

The new air conditioners are designed with a more compact motor—7½ amperes instead of the customary 12. This means that one of the new conditioners will use about as much electricity as a toaster, and does not need special and expensive wiring.

The Listening Post carries Westinghouse, Coolerator and Kelvinator units. You may have Clark, Frank Daly, Albert Ottenheimer and Rubee Raymon. Robert Caldwell is the director.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Alexander the Great (May 17-22) has the elements of great scenes of warfare, mass scenes, roaring action, Technicolor, CinemaScope and much else that makes up a super-star spectacle. It's better than some and should please most of the customers. Richard Burton does quite well as the great conquerer, and Frederic March, Danielle Darrieux and Claire Bloom assist in the enormous cast. Robert Rossen, the director, writer, etc., tried to add a few ideas into what is basically an account of Alexander's life from youth on, liberally sprinkled with battles.

The Revolt of Mamie Stover (May 23-26) centers on the sins of Jane Russell as a girl in a profession which can be interpreted optionally, according to the dubious niceties of the film industries. She gets shipped out of Frisco to Honolulu in '41, and producer Buddy Adler works in the same period, themes and settings of his "From Here to Eternity," plus a smattering of the soldiers and girls idea in his "Battle Cry." Richard Egan, Joan Leslie, and Agnes Moorehead also are featured. Technicolor and CinemaScope.

THE GARDEN

The Return of Don Camille (May 17-19) continues the story of the comic rivalry between the communist mayor and the Catholic priest of a small Italian town. Fernandel and Gino Cervi labor hard at being amusing in what suffers from some of the episodic and dragged out problems of "return" movies in Italian with English titles.

Touch and Go (May 21-26) is a pleasant, sentimental British comedy about a family that decides to migrate to Australia and then runs into a series of complications, some amusing and some touching. Jack Hawkins and Margaret Johnson head the cast. The film is expretly made. Technicolor.

Short Notes. Helen Hayes will appear for the second time in a drama festival at Solebury School in New Hope. She will head her workshop group in "Lovers, Villains and Fools," based on Shakespearian characters, this Saturday, May 19, at 8:30 in the school.

Miss Hayes' (whose son attends Solebury) will appear for the benefit of the school, the proceeds in this case going for portable lighting equipment for the stage. Arrangements allow for three-sided seating in the Elizabethan manner. Tickets at $5 may be obtained through Miss Toni Dugan, P. O. Box 10, New Hope or by calling New Hope 2363 or 2929.

Van Dyke Parks, a 13-year-old member of the flock at Columbus Boychoir School here, will be seen in his first starring role in television tonight. The program is "A Trip to Czardis" on "Star Tonight" seen Thursdays at 9:00 over ABC-TV. The youngster, who recently finished a role in Grace Kelly's "The Swan," heads the cast of the TV drama.

Still Six Feet Over

"Sometimes I know I'm dead, but I didn't think anyone else knew it," Walter H. Lewis explained this week after receiving a considerable amount of good-natured ribbing from his friends since last Thursday. That was the day TOWN TOPICS came out with a Mailbox letter from New Yorker Alan L. Wolfe which criticized the condition of Princeton Cemetery and, in support of the criticism, pointed out that Mr. Lewis and his wife, Sygrid, were buried there without so much as a death date on either monument.

Still alive and doing very nicely at ages 67 and 68, respectively, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, 32 Wilton Street, admitted they have enjoyed many laughs as an aftermath of Mr. Wolfe's understandable mistake. They noted that the tombstones the letter-writer observed, without the most important dates filled in, actually are their monuments, purchased way ahead of schedule to reserve space for them with Mr. Lewis' parents and sister in a family plot.

Mr. Lewis, an active carpenter, was born in Princeton. His wife came to town in 1906 and they were married five years later. Her intriguing footnote to the Mark Twain-type mix-up: "I thought I would never get into the paper until I was dead."

Open Letter to Fire Chief Cahill:

Mrs. Menand and I want you to know how much we appreciate the fine work which the Borough Fire Department did on Sunday, May 6th, in extinguishing the fire which broke out in our home on Hodge Road. In less than ten minutes after the alarm was sent in, your men were on the scene. They proceeded to go about their work in a calm, organized manner and with an efficiency such as to be marvelled at.

Many of the spectators who witnessed the fire spoke highly of the Department's work. In addition, over the past few days we have talked to some of our friends who have had fires. They were unanimous in their high praise of the Princeton Volunteer Fire Department.

You are to be congratulated on the wonderful organization you have. No full-time department could be any better. In appreciation of your assistance, I am enclosing a small contribution to the Intercompany Donations Fund.

Rah, Rah, Reassessment!

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

As a resident of Princeton Township, I will not be affected by the Borough's reassessment plans, announced last week. But I would like to go on record as a wholehearted supporter of the program. "Tax equality for all," as you put it in your account of the plans, sounds good to this taxpayer, regardless of residency.

Unfortunately, the reassessment news reminds me of the Borough's now-forgotten, not-so-enlightened approach to housing proposals for what has been developed into Marquand Park. Reassessment, according to Mayor Sturges, will not mean any change in the total amount of taxes to be collected, but proper high-priced homes on the Marquand property definitely would have brought in more tax dollars —without burdensome school problems.

Rah, rah for reassessment, through only after a real boo-boo.

side of the case of a Princeton woman who talked her way out of a leaving-the-scene-of-an-accident charge because she didn't realize she hit anything and the case of a Lawrence man who paid a $10 fine for riding on a part of an auto not authorized for riding, Municipal Court offered a quiet session on Tuesday. Mrs. Elizabeth Cameron, 141 Sprice Street, lauded for many years of good driving, was the lucky scene-leaver, while Henry B. Thomas of Lawrence was penalized for riding on a convertible top (in "down" position).

For other traffic violations, Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro imposed fines on five Princeton area motorists and a like number from out of town. Those in the former group included: Alan O. Wbipple, 30 North Stanworth Drive, and John Broadway, 12 Birch Aveaue, $14 each for red light offense; Vincent Tamasl, 43 Moran Avenue, $20 for failure to yield right-of-way; Jule G. Charney, Montgomery Street, Rocky Hill, $15 for speeding; and Dana S. Scott, Brookdale Farms, Pennington, $10 for absence of new license tags on car.

Company B. Plans Drill. The 80-member Company B, Princeton's unit in the New Jersey National Guard, will mark Armed Forces Day Saturday with an eight-hour drill at the Princeton Shopping Center. The public is invited to inspect the day-long demonstration of equipment and training technique.

Captain Stanley L. Donald, company commander, has announced that the unit's tanks, a large tank retriever, jeeps, self-propelled 105mm guns, much radio equipment, an F-84 jet plane and a radio-controlled target plane will all be on view. A kitchen truck will provide the noon meal for the men, demonstrating the process of cooking an army meal "in the field."

Cabinet Member to Speak Here. The only woman member of the cabinet in India, Rajkumari Amrit Kaur, will speak in 10 McCosh Hall next Thursday, May 24, at 8 p.m. Her subject will be "Problems Facing India Today."

Minister of Health in India's government for the past decade, she presided over the World Health Assembly in 1950 and has been chairman of the Indian Red Cross. Educated in English schools, she was for 16 years secretary to Mahatma Ghandi before assuming her present position.

Mrs. Smith Chapin Head. Mrs. Paul S. Smith of 320 Western Way has been appointed headmistress of Mrs. Chapin's School for the coming year. A former member of the Township board of education, she taught algebra and geometry at Mrs. Chapin's from 1942 to 1949.

Mrs. Smith was graduated from Wellesley in 1935 and took her M.A. in student personnel administration at Columbia Teacher's College. Her experience has included camp counseling, a term as director of activities at Funch Junior College, regular teaching and guidance in Trenton public schools, and work with the Child Guidance Clinic in Trenton and Mental Hygiene Clinic at the Social Service Bureau here. Mrs. Smith is the wife of the executive vice president of the First National Bank of Princeton.

The new headmistress will take up her duties on June 1, but parents of the 82 students now enrolled and new applicants may make appointments with her by calling 2449. This school is located at Snowden and has class from pre-kindergarten through eigth grade, stressing small group study and individual attention.

As the school enters its 24th year its name will probably become simply Chapin School inview of its co-educational character. J. Victor Davis, president of the board, has called a meeting of the corporation to vote on the recommendation.

Lions Broom Sale. Members of the Lions Club will go from house to house this Saturday, selling brooms, mops and a dozen other articles, with proceeds to go to the club's charity fund for the sick, the blind and the needy.

The traditional fund-raising event, which provides for eye operations for those who cannot afford them and many other forms of assistance, will also include displays on a truck at Palmer Square, at Renwick's, 50 Nassau Street, and Frederick Harris Gift Shop, Shopping Center.

Norton C. Jefferson heads the broom sale committee, assisted by Nelson Thompson. Joseph Catelli and Gordon Griffin are in charge of finances; Van Skillman, flags; Warren Froehlich, materials; Charles Strehlau and James Samuels, publicity.

Captains for the canvass include Ross Alger, Paul Alford, Dr. Frank Caster, Arthur Turney, Alex Hearn, Arthur Yard, Everett Lewis, Chester Page, William Kiefer, Martin Mains, Joseph Redding ad Nicholns Maul.

Mrs. Bodine Feted. Mrs. Evelyn Bodine, who will retire as principal of the Kingston Public School in June after 30 years of service, was feted at a dinner Wednesday evening at the school. Leading educators in the area as well as PTA members, friends old and new and former teachers under Mrs. Bodine gathered to pay tribute to her.

Dr. Millard Lowrey presided and made the presentation of a gift and testimonial to the retiring principal, while the Rev. Mr. Henry Heaps pronounced the invocation and blessing.

The Kingston PTA planned the affair, with Mrs. Frank Vomacka in charge. Mrs. Maud Metz, a teacher at Kingston for the past 13 years has been named to succeed Mrs. Bodine as principal.

Sale Results Announced. A bake sale has netted $90 to aid the Princeton YWCA in producing a motion picture about Y-Teen activities in Princeton.

The sale was held at 217-B King Street, home of Mrs. Wesley L. Nicholson, one of the co-chairmen for the project. Other members of the committee included Mrs. Robert Christensen and Mrs. Robin Gray, co-chairman; Mrs. Vernon Blackman, Mrs. Frank Bliss, Mrs. Peter V. W. Gardner and Mrs. Van A. Harvey.

Birth List. Daughters have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Cooke, 48 Spruce Street; Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. MacGregor, 100 Stockton Street; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Yeh, 39 Wiggins Street; Mr. and Mrs. Leo McNamara, 194 Linden Lane; Mr. and Mrs. William Punnett, 74 Deerpath.

Parents of sons include Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schwarz, 221-A King Street; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Venner, Edgehill Street, Lawrenceville; Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Cluff, 111 W. Broad Street, Hopewell; Mr. and Mrs. James M. Thompson, Orchard Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Marion J. Levy, 102 Russell Road; Mr. and Mrs. John Bernath, River Road; Mr. and Mrs. Roland E. Men," a fund-raising project of the Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. The show will be held next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Arnold Constable store in Trenton.

Those who will participate as models include Thomas C. Roberts, A. Munro Wade, Watts S. Humphrey, Dan D. Coyle and Hallett Johnson Jr. Participating in Princeton fund-raising will be Mrs. James A. Arnold, Mrs. Stephen K. Bailey, Mrs. J. Kenneth Boggs, Mrs. Karl W. Brockman Jr., Mrs. Manning Brown Jr., Mrs. Harry Kinnell, Mrs. Maurice A. Mather, Mrs. William D. Van Riper, Mrs. Walter M. Weber, Mrs. Irving Wolff and Mrs. Earl K. Yeoman, Mrs. George Knaefler, chairman of the woman's division, announced.

The society will set up booths at three locations at the Shopping Center on the next two weekends, staffed by members of the Mary Ellen Assembly No. 51, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, under the direction of Mrs. Frederick L. Creager. Mrs. Arnold will be in charge of booths in the First National Bank and the Princeton Bank and Trust Company.

Short Cuts Mean Savings. Want to build a three-bedroom home for $30,000 that will look as if it cost at least a third more? Skillman and Skillman, Realtors, can show you how, employing "construction short cuts and design innovations" originated by Charles J. Freedricks.

According to the firm, the plan makes it possible to have a large home on a one to two acre plot. Included in the plan are a living room with fireplace and built-in bookcases, dining area, two-car carport and a terrace with an outdoor fireplace.

The original model of the "economy" home was built on the State Road by Mr. Freedricks for himself and his family, and will be shown by Skillman and Skillman on appointment. He has lived in it with his family since its construction in 1948.

Attend National Convention. Three members of the Princeton League of Women Voters were among 1,100 delegates attending the League's national convention in Chicago this month. The Princeton delegates were Mrs. Harold Cherniss, incoming president; Mrs. A. S. Jensen, legislative chairman of the New Jersey State League, and Mrs. Glen Schrank, orientation chairman.

More than 1,000 chapters of the League will discuss over the next two years the subject of conservation of the nation's water resources and the evaluation of the federal security program. Foreign policy was also suggested for major emphasis by the national convention, but was rejected because the national board felt it impossible to single out one facet of the subject for discussion.

The Princeton League of Women Voters, with 368 members, is the second largest in the state of New Jersey. Mrs. Bevin Smith, chairman of the annual membership drive now under way explained that the League is open to all citizens of voting age.

Book Group Formed. The Princeton University Press and D. Van Nostrand Company are among the seven publishing houses which have formed the Informational Book Export Group, a cooperative sales organization for book promotion and sales abroad.

The other members of the organization, which will begin operations on July 1, are the presses of Columbia, Cornell, Harvard and Yale and the Silver Burdett Company. Norval B. Samuels, of the Princeton Press, will be a member of the group's eight-man operating committee.

John J. Criscitiello, former advertising director from the Princeton Press, will serve on the operating committee of IBEG and also act as its advertising manager. He will make a two-month tour of the Near East and Asia for the group in the near future.

Obituaries

Frank A. Hand, 70, of Cranbury Neck Road, Cranbury, died May 13 at Princeton Hospital. Born in Alabama, he was a retired potato farmer and has served as a trustee of the State Potato Association.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah S. Applegate Hand; three daughters, Mrs. Frank M. Danser of Cranbury; Mrs. Charles W. Holman of Dutch Neck; and Mrs. Chester R. Collins of Jamesburg; a brother, William H. Hand of Dutch Neck; three sisters, Mrs. August Gertzel and Mrs. Clifford Exel of Hightstown and Mrs. Edward Western of Cranbury; seven grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The service was held at The Mather Funeral Home, with the Rev. Guy A. Benisinger, pastor of the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church, officiating. Buriel was in Cedar Hill Cemetery, Hightstown.

Mrs. Sarah E. Holmes, 77, died May 10 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel L. Bates of Princeton Junction, with whom she had been living.

Mrs. Holmes, a native of Churchville, Pa., had lived here for meny years. She was a member of the Penns Neck Baptist Church.

Widow of Levi C. Holmes, she is also survived by a son, Lloyd D. of Princeton Junction; a brother, Stephen Delany of Princeton; a sister in Burlington, Vt.; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The funeral at the Penns Neck Baptist Church, at which the pastor, the Rev. S. Robert Weaver, officiated, was followed by interment in Penns Neck Cemetery.

Mrs. Alice May Bates Houtenville, 67, of 9 Maple Avenue, Plainsboro, died May 15 in Princeton Hospital.

Born in Trenton, she was active in the affairs of the Plainsboro Presbyterian Church and was a member of Brainerd Chapter 132, OES, of Cranbury. Wife of John C. Houtenville, she is also survived by a son, Raymond, of Plainsboro; two brothers and two grandsons.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 o'clock at the Plainsboro Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. David Crawford and the Rev. A. Raymond Eckels officiating. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery.

James L. Kersey, 58, of 21 Titus Avenue, Lawrenceville, died May 13 in St. Francis Hospital, Trenton. He had been ill for three monhs.

Mr. Kersey had been employed as a potter by the Fairfacts Co. He was a veteran of World War I.

Husband of Mrs. Emma Newton Kersey, he is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Kandrac of Lawrenceville; two sisters and three grandchildren. The service was held at a Trenton Funeral Home, with burial in Greenwood Cemetery there.

Shoe on the Same Foot

Last year, in his eegerness to perform the vital duties of a volunteer Princeton fireman, shoe store proprietor Ralph D. Hulit, 110 Moore Street, parked his car hastily in answering a fire call and was clipped by an engine swinging out of the firehouse. Other volunteers said he was lucky to escape with only a minor leg bruise, observing that it is dangerous to park across the street from a firehouse when an emergency run is in progress.

Last week, still eager to help maintain the Princeton volunteers' quick-action reputation (see reference in This Is Princeton), fireman Hulit momentarily forgot the lesson he learned last year. He parked his auto across the street from the firehouse and made his way on foot, quite safely, to the waiting engine inside. Then, taking the controls himself, he swung the big vehicle out of the firehouse and crashed into his own parked car.

Princeton area to shelter infants during short periods while arrangements for adoption are being completed by the Children's Home Society of New Jersey.

Temporary homes are also needed for Mercer County youngsters in the Society's care. Mrs. Minna K. Rosen should be contacted at the organization's headquarters, 923 Parkside Avenue, Trenton (OWen 5-6274) by those who wish to help. The Society which serves as Princeton's general child-care and adoption agency, is supported through the United Community Fund.

Awarded Four-Year Scholarship. Frank A. Kessler, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kessler of New Road, Monmouth Junction, has been granted a four-year scholarship to the University of Virginia.

Kessler, who will graduate from Pennington School June 1, plans to study business administration on the scholarship, worth $6,000. Before entering prep school, he attended Hamilton High School and graduated from Princeton High. In sports he has been outstanding as a football guard and baseball catcher.

Y. W. C. A. Announces Camp Schedule. Girls between the ages eight and 17 may register now for the 1956 Summer Camping Program of the Princeton Y.W.C.A. Included are sessions at Camp Washington atop O'Schooley's Mountain, Mooristown, and at Camp Blue Mountain near Reading, Pa.

One-week sessions will be held at Camp Washington in August, while two two-week periods are schedlled in July at Camp Blue Mountain. Girls interested in camping or desiring further information should register with Miss Irene Jeffress, 4 Green Street or 202 Nassau Street, or call the Y.W.C.A. at PRinceton 1-2133-W. Registration should be made by May 1.

Rabies Shots Important. If too many dog owners become complacent or indifferent about immunizing their dogs, New Jersey will again face a rabies problem, Dr. Oscar Sussman of the state health department warned today.

The diagnosis of a rabid canine in southern Burlington County recently dramatizes the need for unremitting promotion of immunizing dogs against rabies, according to Dr. Sussman, who lives at 42 Clover Lane. He is chief of the Bureau of Veterinary Public Health, which deals with animal diseases transmissable to man.

Dr. Sussman warned that since several neighboring states have rabies problems, care must be taken that New Jersey canines and other animals are immune to the disease, which might be transmitted across state borders. "There have been only two rabies cases reported in the past six years, and one of those was the Burlington diagnosis," Dr. Sussman stated.

Worthington Elected. F. J. Worthington, manager of the Princeton University Store and The Music Shop, has been elected vice-president of the National Association of College Stores for the coming year. He has served on the association's board of trustees for the past three years.

Manager of the U-Store since 1947, Mr. Worthington is past president of the Rotary Club and YMCA, past chairman of the Community Chest and past secretary of the Nassau Club. At present he is a director of the YMCA and trustee of the Nassau Club.

LOOK ALIKES THINK ALIKE: Victor (left) and Aladar Olgyay, identical twins as well as associate professors in Princeton University's School of Architecture, have some pretty definite ideas about expansion of the University—if and when—and their ideas complement each other and their unusual research work here. As presented below in Question of the Week, their thoughts tie in closely with their sphere of study, which is the correlation between human needs and such basic "architectural," or environmental, factors as climate, light, sound and humidity. (Richards Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Presuming the University intends to expand greatly during the decade ahead, where do you think the emphasis should be placed?

Location: Princeton University.

Victor Olgyay, 84 College Road, associate professor of architecture: Undoubtedly, everything must be reconsidered on a universal basis—much more than in previous years. What with our global approach to life in general these days, there should also be a strong correlation between different areas of study. I believe we can maintain an exchange of ideas better by developing Princeton's facilities, but not by enlarging enrollment. The intimate, face-to-face group should be retained. We realize such an approach in our architectural research for we work together with others and use their methods for a better understanding of our own subject. It's a "pooling of ideas" concept.

Aladar Olgyay, 87 Deerpath, associate professor of architecture: The emphasis should be placed on closer cooperation between different departments, particularly between the sciences. Boundaries of varied subjects, or fields of knowledge, will grow together and develop a more synthesized approach to the whole. Actually, there should no longer be any boundary or dividing line between subjects—the only correlation factor ought to man himself.

James W. Smith, 104 Henry Hall, associate professor of philosophy: I would say that fundamentally I'm opposed to expansion. We can do our job better by maintaining the quality which requires smallness. If any expansion is necessary, we should do everything possible to maintain the present balance in which the liberal arts are the core of the University and not merely an adjunct.

Howard Menand Jr., 140 Hodge Road, assistant dean of the School of Engineering: There will definitely be expansion at the graduate level, varying from academic area to academic area. I believe the greatest growth will be in the natural sciences and engineering. The limiting factor, of course, is housing, but the growth is necessary because of America's acute need for better teachers. There must be more teachers to handle the tidal wave of students. And a University can only be great if it is strong at the graduate level. A secondary level of expansion might be at the undergraduate level in enrollment—maybe a 10 to 15 percent increase. The limiting factor here is money, but such expansion just seems to happen because it has happened at Princeton historically every 50 or so years. And we must relate ourselves to the national education picture, particularly to eastern colleges with which we are closely associated. We must not find Princeton an ever-smaller grain of sand on the ever-expanding beach. Over the next ten years, Princeton might well spend $25 million in adding dormitories and laboratories to its physical plant.

Steven M. Slaby, 469 Ewing Street, assistant professor in the School of Engineering: Personally, I think expansion will be divided 50-50 between the technical and the social sciences. Maybe this expansion should be equal, but sometimes I feel there should be a heavier emphasis on the social sciences and humanities—which may sound funny coming from an engineer. Though the technical sciences are said to be far ahead of other subjects in development, it's not easy to try and resolve some of today's world problems through them. Social problems dealing with people — how they think or feel—are more difficult to put your finger on than technical problems. The University's academic sphere of influence might not be the whole answer to these social problems, of course, but it should be an enlightening factor.

Arthur Szathmary, 120 Prospect Avenue, associate professor of philosophy: If expansion is inevitable, which I very much doubt, then it should be in the direction of the humanistic departments. Development without expansion—a well-thought-out program of training and not by broad, general over-large groups dealing with Great Books of Great Ideas courses—seems to me to represent Princeton's great need. I can't see how expansion

Something Old, Something New. Volunteers in the throes of picking up various heirlooms and worthwhile items for the Collectors' Auction of the Princeton Hospitol Fete this week reported an abundance of wonderful articles. There will be something old, something new and something for every interested bidder at the June 2 event, scheduled for Westminister Choir College.

Included among the "old" objects are two fourposter mahogany beds (complete with box springs and mattresses), an Old English silver skewer (dated London 1775), two Victorian side chairs (with tapestry in perfect condition) nnd a collection of Wedgwood bowls. "New" items include such valuable donations as n solid gold Ronson lighter, a Bell & Howell 16 mm movie camera and a new air-conditioning unit.

An 18-seat mahogany dining-room tahle and a Chinese lacquer cahinet also will lure Princetonians to the Collectors' Auction. And there will be other attention-deserving articles like an orig-inal painting by Howard Russell Butler, n leather top knee-hole desk and n pair of iron and brass andirons. Many of the furniture pieces will show the expert re-finishing efforts of Mrs. Howard Menand Jr.

In addition to the auction, this year's Fete—open from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M.—will feature a flower show, children's entertainment, "A Lane of Shops" and essorted tempting foods. All proceeds will benefit work accomplished by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital.

Breakfast Dance for Seniors. The Princeton High School senior class will be honored with a breakfast dance at the Nassau Tavern following its Farewell Dance Friday, May 25. The party is being sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, the class and several organizations which ere underwriting part of the expense.

The seniors will dance until dawn to the music of Connie Knight's orchestra and enjoy entertainment, prizes given hy local merchants and refreshments. Breakfast at 3.30 a.m. will conclude the affair. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will provide chaperones for the 250 seniors and their dates.

HOUSE TO BE OPEN: This Hodge Road residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward is one of ten in the "Open House" tour of picturesque Princeton homes arranged for Saturday by the Mount Holyoke and Radcliffe College Clubs. (George Thomas Photo)

In charge of the breakfast dance are Mrs. William E. Reaser and Mrs. Marshall Ammerman, co-chairmen; Mrs. Joseph Miller, secretary, and Eric Mihan, gifts. Mrs. Albert VanZandt, entertainment committee chairman, will be assisted hy seniors John Harbison, Morgan Holmnn, Pnt Hutton, Jewel Kennedy, Doris Pierson, Selly Reaser and Ellen Reed.

The finance committee consists of Wilbur Young, chairman, Mrs. L. V. Chandler, Mrs. Arthur Colley and John Hutton. The refreshment committee is headed by Mrs. Robert Dilley, assisted by Mrs. Hubert Kay, Mrs. Elmer Beekman, Mrs. Norman Hulick, Mrs. Frank Buxton, Mrs. Joseph Luther, Mrs. Edwin Kimble nnd Mrs. J. F. Hutton.

William Smyth is chairman of n group of fathers who will act as proctors for the event. He will be assisted by Williams Reaser, E. Harris Harbison, Edwin Kimble, John Stalker and Robert Dilley. Mrs. Joseph Strayer is president of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Community Services Meeting. Four Princeton civic leaders and a professor from Rutgers University will be the speakers at the 10th annual meeting of the Council of Community Services Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church.

Following the election of officers, directors and individual members, a panel will discuss the topic, "The Council and the United Community Fund Co-ordinate Their Activities." Dr. Warren Findley, a director of the Council, will moderate the panel.

Miss Doris Swain, professor in the Graduate School of Social Work at Rutgers University, will speak on Chest - Council relationships in other communities. Thomas G. Cook, president of the Princeton United Community Fund, will describe the past and present activities of the fund.

of any kind is consistent with maintaining the educational standards of Princeton. Moral responsibility — meeting the demands of the nation—is a consideration, but it more important to improve the quality of education. I might add that quality has been hurt at other colleges by expansion.

Alfred E. Sorenson, 150 Patton Avenue, associate professor in the School of Engineering: Because of the terrific need for scientists and engineers, we should try to get more men in the natural sciences—perhaps up to 24 percent of our total enrollment as opposed to the current 18 percent. But I don't believe we should break up the present balance to any great degree—just enough to help meet demands and avoid criticism for not helping. Any greater increase cannot be handled the way we in the natural sciences want them taught. Meanwhile, we must think of some ideas to interest students in secondary schools in the natural sciences, for that is where the terriffc need is being caused through lack of interest. Maybe we should hold an "open house" for freshmen end sophomores from secondary schools, instead of seniors only, and try to interest them earlier.

IT'S NEW TO US

a Coolerator in the 7½ amp. design for $199.95. This is a ¾ ton unit, which means that it has a maximum cooling capacity of 7,500 B.T.U. It is quite adequate for the cooling of an average size bedroom.

If you want to cool a whole floor, you'll need a one-ton unit, and these take more wiring and more money. The 7½ ones come only in ½ and ¾ ton.

The Listening Post will install the conditioner for you and give you service for one year at $29.95 additional cost. If you are conditioned enough to lift a 200-pound conditioner, you can install it yourself and save $29.95.

Take the Plunge. There is some debate about new playclothes at Mary Gill, 230 Nassau. Are the pants "Portuguese" or "Poncho"? As one with considerable acquaintance with the poncho, we prefer to call them Portuguese. You can call them anything you like.

They are made of a natural-colored cotton that looks like light-weight canvas. They hug the leg to a point just above the ankle, then break out into a flaring cuff lined with a modern print in orange, black and brown. A sash of the same print winds around the waist.

With the pants, you wear a matching blouse with a wide-collared neckline that plunges all the way to—well, as soon as we saw it we realized that you'd have to wear something under it, and sure enough you do.

There are two sleeveless blouses in that orange print. One is sleeveless with straight, high horizontal neck. Another is cap sleeved with a surplice front. A print skirt goes along, too.

Persian print has been used in a blouse and skirt of bright red cotton. Blouse is sleeveless, skirt (drip dry) has tiny, stiff accordion pleats and stiffening in the hem to make it bell-shaped. Summer's bargain is a cotton knit dress in black or white, straight, but not a sheath, belted, sleeveless, bateau neck front and back, $8.95.

Mother-of-the-bride dresses are mauve lace with matching silk satin (blue, maize) . . . silk organza with scalloped Alencon-type lace yoke, Empire waist, velvet bow trim.

Summer cocktail dresses are in batiste (white with red or green carnations, dropped shoulders); lace (pale blue, dropped waistline, short sleeves, flaring skirt); heavy silk (navy with all-over white satin embroidery, Chinese style dress with mandarin coat slit from hem to waistline); nylon (flower print with acetate lining, bateau neckline and shoestring shoulder straps.); India print (gold-shot princess dress with short, fitted jacket).

A director and former president of the Council, the Rev. J. Donald Butler, will discuss the aims of the Council during its decade of existence. The last speaker on the panel, Walter H. Scott, executive director of the United Community Fund, will present proposals for the new Fund-Council relationship in Princeton.

Bryn Mawr Sale a Success. The 25th annual book sale of the Bryn Mawr Club of Princeton resulted in record sales of $2,200, according to co-chairmen Mrs. Lyman Spitzer of Princeton and Mrs. Arthur Sherwood of Pennington. Some 6,000 of the 12,000 volumes donated to the sale were sold in the two and one-half days, with the remainder later distributed among needy foreign and domestic school libraries, institutional libraries and charitable organizations.

Among the discoveries in this year's sale were a first edition of a novel by James Fenimore Cooper and a volume printed in colonial America in 1644 entitled, "The Keys to the Kingdom" by John Cotton. Proceeds from the sale will be used for scholarship funds for Princeton area girls attending Bryn Mawr College.

World Federalists Plan Picnic. The United World Federalists of Princeton will hold their annual meeting and picnic next Thursday, May 24, at the home of H. W. Hoisington Jr., president of the group.

Officers for the coming year will be elected. Federalism will be discussed Monday at a meeting to be held ot the home of Mrs. J. G. Arrott.

Republican Club to Elect. Officers of the 250-member Young Republican Club of Princeton for the coming year will be elected Tuesday at the annual business meeting. The meeting will be held in the Ranger Room of the Nassau Tavern at 8:30 p.m.

Richard W. Baker Jr., retiring chairmen of the group, will review the history of the club. From the time of its founding two years ago the organization has grown from 30 members to become one of the largest and most active Republican clubs in the state.

Township PTA Officers Elected. William G. Mollenkopf has been elected president of the Princeton Township Parent-Teacher Association for the year 1956-57.

Mrs. Woodrow Wirsig was chosen first vice-president and Mrs. L. L. Vivian Jr., third vice-president. Other officers elected are Mrs. Portia Sonnenfeld, recording secretary; Mrs. G. T. Geary, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Leonard Hymerling, treasurer.

Sports in Princeton

Last Big Saturday. Although the baseball team will play another four games and the crew will partake in the national regatta and the Olympic tryouts, the spring season in effect comes to an end this Saturday. Since it is just a few weeks since contests were being postponed because untimely snow was still a factor in daily life, the season has been a short one indeed.

The last big Saturday will provide a major share of action. Starting at 1 o'clock, the baseball team will make a bid for at least a tie in the Eastern League title (see page 21 for standings), with the annual Cornell - Princeton track meet set for Palmer Stadium at 2.

Lake Carnegie will be the scene of no less than six crew races, with the first scheduled for 3 o'clock. At 15-minute intervals, the freshman, junior varsity and varsity lightweights will row Pennsylvania, followed by freshman, jayvee and varsity crews of Harvard, M.I.T., Princeton and Dartmouth.

The 150-lb. varsities will compete for the Wood Hammond Cup, while the heavyweights will row for the Compton Cup. The latter race is scheduled for 4:30.

A golf match on Springdale's links against Army at 2:30 is the only other varsity event scheduled for Princeton. The tennis team will be at Cambridge seeking to wrap up the Eastern Association title against Harvard, while the lacrosse team will be satisfied to see a mediocre season end against Navy at Annapolis.

Record Broken Again. Breaking the course record for the Henley distance (1 5/16 miles) for the second week in a row, the 150-lb. crew won the Eastern Sprint title Saturday in convincing fashion. Ahead from start to finish, the unbeaten Tigers led Cornell, Harvard and Yale across the line by margins ranging from a half length to better than three. The fine time of 6:31 was nearly three seconds under the mark set on May 12.

Princeton's freshmen also won, finishing ahead of M.I.T., Harvard and Columbia to give the Tigers a major share of the day's honors. On the Potomac River at Washington, however, the Orange and Black entries could do no better than third place in the freshman event and fourth in the jayvee and varsity races.

There was hope for this weekend, however, in that Princeton outrowed Harvard in all three races. The Orange and Black varsity, with Seymour Cromwell back at the seven oar, trimmed the Crimson in the morning heat by a length and beat it again by a couple of feet in the final. Cornell edged Yale by two feet for the championship, also winning the jayvee event, with the freshman race going to Navy's Plebes.

Three Close Contests. When Princeton's baseball team played in games last week that resulted in a 2-1 loss to Army, and 4-3 victories over Rutgers and Pennsylvania, it raised to seven the number of one-run decisions in which Eddie Donovan's outfit has been involved. Six of them have been won by the Tigers, indicating that they have had topflight pitching backed by just the right amount of clutch hitting.

The same cannot be said for the fielding Princeton has displayed, since five of the eight runs last week's three opponents scored were unearned. It mean defeat in the Army contest, a near-loss to Rutgers and near-disaster in the Penn game. The latter was shoved into extra innings by two infield misplays, without which junior Leigh Ford would have had an easy 3-1 decision.

The Orange and Black dropped its first league game to the cadets when it could chalk up but a lone run off Army ace Bill Shepard. The tieing tally was on second with none out in the ninth when Ed McMillan opened with a double, but he got no further than third as Tom Quay grounded out, Royce Flippin beat out an infield roller, Tom Morris struck out and Dave Silhanek bounced to the pitcher.

Next day, Craig McClelland and Ed Seaman combined to beat Rutgers, 4-3, on University Field. An error by Morris gave the visitors a 3-2 lead in the sixth, resulting in McClelland's departure for a pinch-hitter. In the seventh, the Rutgers centerfielder let a sharp single get by him, the blow scoring Johnny Wert and the error allowing McMillan to go all the way around with the winning run. Seaman had no trouble disposing of the Scarlet to nail down the triumph, his third of the season.

At Philadelphia Saturday, Princeton opened with two in the first and added another in the fourth. A walk to Wert, an error on McMillan's sharp grounder and singles by Quay and Morris produced the pair of tallies in the first, while hits by Dale Casto, Ford and Wert after two had been retired accounted for the run in the fourth.

Meanwhile, Flippin had thrown wild on a potential double play ball to give the Quakers an un-

THEY CARRY BIG STICKS: Nick Kovalakides (left) and Win Niles Jr. represent Princeton High's one-two track punch this spring, cracking records, scoring points and dominating the field events against PHS opposition. On two occasions, Kovalakides has broken the school standard in the javelin throw—his latest being a toss of 172 feet 6 inches in the Lawrenceville meet—and three times he has registered "triples," with firsts in the shot put and discus as well as his specialty. Niles, son of the Little Tigers' coach, has set a new PHS pole vault mark of 12 feet 2½ inches, knocking out a record that stood for two decades. (Richards Photo) earned run in the second and in the seventh Larry Durante misplayed a grounder to short that put pitcher Tom Conlin abroad. His brother Jim promptly followed with a smash to right field that cleared the fence for a home run and tied the score at 3-3.

Although Ford had pitched at Army three days earlier, he showed no signs of running into trouble as the grame progressed. The Tigers threatened in the eighth and ninth without scoring but Flippin, always a tremendous clutch performer, opened the tenth with a long blast to left center that brought him into third standing up.

Tom Morris took a third strike but Durante's squeeze bunt was perfect and the Orange and Black wrapped up its sixth league triumph when Ford set Penn down in order in the bottom of the inning.

Other Sports. The lacrosse team topped Cornell, 15-3, but Yale won Ivy honors the first time the league was organized in this sport. The Elis also took the Eastern title in golf, with Princeton third behind Penn State in a 15-team field.

The track team was sixth in the Heptagonal Games, with Ed Williams topping the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.5 seconds to give the Tigers an individual title in addition to the mile relay quartet. The tennis team whitewashed Cornell, 9-0, without the loss of a set, and has high hopes of beating Harvard for the Eastern Association championship Saturday.

New Records Sought. Princeton High School's record-conscious track team this week looked for new individual marks and the start of a new dual meet win streak after recuperating from its initial dual setback in nine years (the handiwork of an unbeaten Lawrenceville squad). Coach Win Niles expected a strong, comeback victory over Somerville this Wednesday, in an engagement held too late for coverage here, and predicted that his forces will not drop another dual meet this spring, including the May 28 date with tough Trenton High.

The coach admitted Lawrenceville's superior power and depth, but said his team's lone loss might have been a much closer one had it enjoyed the services of weight-thrower Frank DiMeglio, called out of town by the National Guard, and Co-Captain Tom Shope, capable hurdles and high jump performer who has been sorely hampered by a pulled muscle for a month. The latter, incidentally, probably will be ready for participation in the 1956 state meet on June 2.

At last week end's Long Branch Relays, PHS quartets finished about as anticipated, with several individual runners showing good stuff but none of the foursomes having enough speed to capture an event. The two-mile combination (Richie Hall, Bruce Nystrom, Arnie Alden and Gary Cortelyou) ran a fine 8:27, but came in third as Haddon Heights and Englewood turned in excellent time, the former an 8:21 winner.

The Little Tigers' sprint team (Win Niles Jr., Vic Payne, Maurice Still and Bob Fowler) took third in its heat, thus failing to qualify for the finals despite a clocking that was better than the No. 1 quartets in the two other heats. Miler Tom Dennison, trying his luck at the half mile, managed a creditable 2:11 — his first 880 under 2:16 — but the medley relay combination could do no better than fifth in its event, the same place taken by the mile relay foursome.

Just before this week's Somerville meet, sophomore Roddy Pannell was suspended from school indefinitely for setting off firecrackers at PHS. Coach Niles hoped for his return soon inasmuch as he is a good high jumper and broad jumper, and the Little Tigers must rely on their field-event prowess for success.

PHS Wins One of Three. A 10-3 defeat at the hands of the Hamilton High Hornets this week saddled Princeton High School's baseball team with a 2-6 mark. The Little Tigers had topped their Mercer County rivals by a

Jinx at Work Again

Serving as captain of a Princeton University team is apparently an extremely hazardous occupation, as the latest development in a chain of events has proved again.

Last fall, Royce Flippin suffered a severely wrenched knee before the football season began and saw action in only three plays before recovering in time to help beat Yale. In February, John DeVoe of the basketball team experienced a similar injury, his frequent absence throughout the rest of the season serving to remove the Tiger quintet from the pennant contenders. Captain Gabe Markisohn of the track team pulled a leg muscle in a February meet and was out of action until he anchored the winning mile relay team in the Heptagonal Games at West Point last weekend.

Last Friday, Jim Gibson, captain and ace pitcher of the baseball team reported to the University Infirmary with a severe case of grippe. He missed both the Pennsylvania and Columbia games and there was doubt over his availability for the climactic game with Cornell here Saturday.

one-run margin earlier this month but could not duplicate the performance.

Russ Watson was the starting and losing hurler, with Hamilton landing on the Princetonians for five runs in the second, another in the third and four more in the fourth. The victors pounded out 16 hits, in contrast to the four credited to the losers.

Going nine innings for the first time this season, PHS seemed to like the idea last week and pulled a real surprise by upsetting Lawrenceville School on the losing club's diamond, 5-4 Howie Phox scattered seven hits in pitching Princeton to its (as well as his) second triumph of the year. He struck out four and walked the same number.

First Baseman Lee Ammerman and Second Baseman Ed Lubas were the hitting heroes for PHS, the former singling in one marker in the fifth and slamming a two-run homer in the seventh after the latter doubled home a pair of runs in the first frame. PHS was outhit by the Lawrentians, 7-6, but the Little Tigers got their key blows at the right junctures.

Unfortunately for Princeton, success against the prep school club was not habit-forming. By Friday, Coach Morrill Shepard's team was back in an all-too-familiar groove and was blanked by Long Branch, 5-0. Only singles by brothers Lee and Alan Ammerman spared PHS from no-hit fate, but the whitewash job was Princeton's fourth in seven games —No. 2 at the hands of the stingy Branchers— and PHS pitcher Russ Watson again experienced near-total lack of aid from his teammates.

Still hoping for better days on a continuing basis, the Little Tigers were slated to play Ewing High this Wednesday and will meet Trenton Catholic here next Tusday. Both opponents topped PHS in April, the Blue Devils by a 3-0 count and Catholic in a 4-3 thriller.

Hun Streak Reaches 11. A decisive 7-2 triumph over Delburton at Morristown raised the Hun School's fine winning streak in baseball to 11 Monday afternoon. Alan Sheppard hurled a three-hitter for the Red and Black, which took a 2-0 third-inning lead and was never headed.

Earl Cottrell and Jim Lavan paced the victors' nine-hit attack with a pair of safeties apiece, the former banging a triple and Lavan chipping in with a double as Hun opened its attack in the third frame. After Delburton pushed two across in its half of the fourth, a four-run fifth inning sewed up the decision.

Before the Delburton encounter—the second against the Morristown school this season—Hun easily won its ninth and 10th consecutive games, thanks in large part to the contributions of a pair of Princeton students. The Red and Black club walloped Solebury School, 11-1, for the second time in 1956, and shut out Bryn Athyn Academy, 2-0, both last week.

Pitcher Alan Shepard, son of Princeton High Coach Morrill Shepard, was the big factor in the Solebury win, fanning seven and walking only two while chalking up his third success of the campaign. Bob Gottschalk and Frank Lewellan collected two hits apiece in support of Shepard, and Bruce Davis and Earl Cottrell banged out doubles during the course of Hun's eight-hit attack.

Against a stubborn Bryn Athyn nine, which limited the Johnny Huns to the unusually paltry total of four safeties, George Cramer of Somerville Road cracked a triple behind Cottrell's second-inning single to put his team in front to stay. Davis, hurling his seventh conquest without defeat, added an insurance run with a solo homer in the fifth and a third Hun tally was almost recorded when Pete Rednor, after walking, was caught at the plate following a Lewellan triple.

Coach Zig Emery's splendid Red and Black team was expected to continue on its merry way this Wednesday against Peddie School and this Friday against Bayley-Ellard, a victim earlier in the spring. Next Wednesday, a strong BMI nine will come to Princeton to test Hun's fiber.

Orioles, Cards Lead Loops. The power-laden Yankees, sponsored by Hulit's shoe store, took decisive victories over the Pirates, 12-3, and the Athletics, also 12-3, to remain the only unbeaten team in the YMCA Midget Baseball League last week, but the Orioles, sponsored by American Legion Post 76, stayed atop the American Division because their three wins gave them more points.

In the loop's National Division, the Cardinals, sponsored by the Township Police Pistol Club, shook off the effects of an early-season loss and moved into first place on the strength of two triumphs and a tie during last week's competition. The Giants, sponsored by Prince Chevrolet, found themselves in second position close behind the Cards.

Geis to Retire

The Cornell-Princeton meet in Palmer Stadium this Saturday will be the last event here for 68-year old Matty Geis, head track coach at Princeton since 1932. Scheduled to retire in June, he will be succeeded by Pete Morgan, assistant coach since 1946.

Geis, whose career in the sport covers a half century, will be honored at the annual track dinner Saturday night, which will be attended by many of his former athletes. He enached at Yale and Lawrenceville before coming to Princeton.

Winner of 61 out of 108 dual and triangular meets at Old Nassau, Geis simultaneously brought Bill Bonthron (now a Princeton resident) and the mile run into the spotlight in the mid-thirties when he helped stage the annual Princeton Invitation Meets. His best team was the 1938 combination, which won six straight dual meets, the Heptagonal Games and took first place in every field event in the Princeton-Cornell vs. Oxford-Cambridge meet.

As of Monday, with a full schedule of Midget games on tap this week, the standings were as follows:

	W.	L.	Tie	Pts.*
(American Division)
Cardinals	3	1	1	12
Giants	2	2	1	10
Braves	2	2	0	8
Pirates	2	2	0	8
Dodgers	1	2	1	7
(National Division)
Orioles	3	1	0	10
Yankees	2	0	1	8
Athletics	1	3	0	6
Tigers	1	1	1	6
Red Sox	0	3	1	5

*System': 3 for win, 2 for tie, 1 for loss, 0 for forfeit.

Obedience Match Set. The Princeton Dog Training Club will hold its second American Kennel Club sponsored obedience match on Sunday at Miss Fine's School. The match will start at 1 p.m., with registration beginning at noon.

Dogs will be judged in sub-novice, novice, graduate novice, open and utility classes, according to Mrs. Robert Potter, match secretary. Ribbons and trophies will be awarded in each class, with prizes for special events.

Mrs. William Schmidt of Carteret; Joseph S. Locsos of Cedar Grove; and Raymond Drake of Green Village, N. J., will judge the events. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Potter at 1-5876.

Tigers in Trouble. Although it wos only last week that it was looking down at the rest of the Eastern League, Princeton's baseball team goes into its final contest in the circuit peering up at Yale. The loss to Army (see page 18) was coupled with an 8-4 setback at the hands of Columbia, and left the Tigers facing the absolute necessity of trimming Cornell Saturday to earn at least a tie for the title.

Off to a big, 4-0 first-inning lead in the game on New York's Baker Field Tuesday, Princeton could not maintain the pace. Starter Ed Seaman ran into trouble in the fifth, and when he forced in a run by issuing a walk with the bases filled, Craig McClelland replaced him.

Charlie Grace, Columbia catcher, greeted McClelland with a grand slam home-run that made it 5-4 and put the home team ahead to stay. The Lions racked up three more in the late innings, two of them on another circuit blow as Princeton pitching failed for the first time in nearly two months. The Lions thus became the first team to score more than four runs off Princeton since Maine won a 12-5 game on March 31.

What possibilities exist for a playoff will not be investigated until at least this weekend, when results of Saturday's games involving Princeton, Cornell and Army are at hand. Yale has finished its schedule, but the possibility of a two or a three-way deadlock now exists.

The mid-week standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Yale	7	2	.778
PRINCETON	6	2	.750
Army	4	2	.667
Cornell	4	2	.667
Columbia	4	3	.571
Navy	3	3	.500
Harvard	3	4	.429
Dartmouth	2	4	.333
Brown	1	7	.125
Penn	0	5	.000

PCD Takes 3 Out of 4. A three-run rally in the final inning against Lawrence Junior High gave Princeton Country Day School's baseball team a 4-3 triumph Tuesday afternoon. Winning pitcher Johnny Cook bunted with the bases loaded and none out to squeeze Hugh Wise across with the final run.

The Blue and White took three of its four games in the past week to raise its season's record to 6-3. The Peddie Juniors were beaten for the second time this season, 3-2, at Hightstown last Friday. Cook was again the winner, riding out to a 3-0 lead before stemming a rally by the losers that just fell short.

PCD alumni were beaten, 4-2, Saturday morning, despite the fact that Henry Urbaniak pitched a no-hitter for the losers. Webb Harrison went the distance for the school nine.

Witherspoon School gained revenge for an earlier loss to Country Day on Monday with a 6-2 triumph. Ray Thompson was the winning pitcher, yielding only two hits and getting near-perfect support. Alex Nelson hit a home run for the victors.

Country Day plays Valley Road on the Broadmead diamond this Thursday. Saturday morning, it will take part in the annual father-son game at 11 o'clock, preceding the school fair.

League to Meet. The American Friends Service Committee Report, "Speak Truth to Power," will be discussed at the next open meeting of the Women's Internation League for Peace and Freedom. Mrs. James Brault will lead the discussion Thursday, May 24, at 8:15 p.m. in the home of Mrs. James Norman, Crescent Avenue, Rocky Hill.

Interested members of the community who wish to obtain a copy of the pamphlet—a report on a Quaker search for an alternative to violence in international conflict—may do so by calling Mrs. Brault at 1-2604-M. At the annual state meeting of the New Jersey Branch of the League, held in Princeton, several resolutions dealing with current problems of world peace and human rights were adopted and sent to President Eisenhower and various members of Congress.

Miscellany. Paul Ernest Steiger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steiger 3d, 756 Kingston Road, has been awarded the John G. Hun Scholarship to the Hun School, headmaster Paul R. Chesebro has announced. He is a student at St. Paul's School here.

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the meeting of the Wilson College Club of the Trenton-Princeton area Thursday, May 24. The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John de Groo, Brunswick Pike.

The Smith College Club of Princeton will hold its annual spring meeting and tea Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William F. Chamberlin, 735 Prospect Avenue Extension. Mrs. Herbert S. Bailey will announce scholarship winners and officers will be elected at the meeting, which will celebrate the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Smith College Alumnae Association.

The Town Club is sponsoring a theater party Saturday night at McCarter. The group will attend the second annual Jazz Concert by Stan Rubin. Everett May is chairman of the event.

All interested persons are invited to join a trip to the shore Sunday to watch shorebirds and waterfowl not seen inland, according to an announcement by the Trenton Naturalist Club. Points of departure for the trip and the times are: Mercer and Stockton Streets, 6:15 a.m., and the State Museum, West State Street, Trenton, 7 a.m. Charles H. Rogers is leader of the trip.

Wesley H. Owens has been named exclusive sales agent for a series of new split level homes to be built on Harrison Street by New Level Homes, Inc. of Plainfield. Construction will start in the near future.

Mrs. Gordon Hall, chairman of knitting for the Red Cross Chapter, has asked that all knitting, especially toe-cast socks, be returned to headquarters as soon as possible.

Mrs. Rebecca Dudley, chairman of the education committee of the Friendship Club, is making arrangements for a tea to be held Sunday, May 27, at the home of the president, Mrs. Bertha Brandon, 20 Green Street. The public is invited, with tea to be served at 4 and after church and a silver offering planned.

Miss Janet Findley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Findley, 172 Cedar Lane, was chairman of the May Day Fete at Goucher College. She is also serving as secretary of the senior class for the next 12 months.

Ike's Stock Is Up

Even without taking into consideration the politically significant week-end health report from President Eisenhower's physicians, the New Jersey Poll indicated this week that the chief executive boasts a high vote of confidence from rank and file voters throughout the estate. After 39 months in office, more than three out of every four voters questioned say they approve of the way Ike is doing his job.

The Poll, conducted by the Princeton Research Service, showed an approval percentage of 78 on the Eisenhower popularity barometer, a big jump since his low of 63% back in December, 1954, and a four-point increase since his 74% four months ago. Also on the current barometer, 18% of those approached voiced disapproval of President Eisenhower's leadership and 4% said they had no opinion.

Highlight of the Poll's survey was the revelation of Ike's popularity with the state's Independent voters — the group that will hold the balance of power come November. More than four out of five Independents—82%—expressed approval of the President's efforts in the White House.

News of the Churches

"Birthday of the Church." The Feast of Pentecost, often called "the birthday of the church," will be observed this Sunday by Protestant and Roman Catholic church members in the Princeton community. Last Wednesday, the Jewish community began the celebration of Shabuot, the ancient festival from which Pentecost grew.

According to church history, 150 Christian believers gathered in Jerusalem 50 days after the first Easter to celebrate Shabuot. They found themselves endowed with sudden spiritual power that enabled them to win large numbers of coverts. Peter, preaching his first sermon, is said to have converted 3,000 men and women of every faith and nationality.

Because the story of Pentecost concerns the wide out-reach of the church, the World Council of Churches has asked its members to lay special emphasis on the day. About 170 million Christians in 47 countries are represented on the World Council, formed in 1948 in Amsterdam. (Dr. John R. Bodo of the First Presbyterian church attended this founding assembly as an interpreter.

The World Council carries on a broad inter-church aid program consisting of health projects, homes for the aged, service to people in D.P. camps, help with migration and resettlement problems, disaster relief and scholarships for church workers.

The Council is also concerned with the role of the layman, his work in his church and the problems he faces in maintaining Christian attitudes during his daily life.

Birthdays for Presbyterians. In recognition of the 250th anniversary of the founding of the Presbytery of Philadelphia, the 168th

FROM PHILIPPINES. Mrs. Jose L. Valencia of Manila will address the Methodist Woman's Society for Christian Service next Monday at the church.

General Assembly of the church will meet in Philadelphia this year. The Assembly will begin next Tuesday and continue for one week.

Seven evening meetings have been scheduled expressly for those who are not necessarily delegates to the Assembly, but who wish to take advantage of speakers, films and inspirational talks. Tickets are available at the office of the First church, Princeton.

Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Academy of Music there will be a "Town Meeting of the Air" broadcast on "The Churches' Role in an Election Year." Next Wednesday at the same hour, Billy Graham will speak on "The World and the Church in Crisis." His address and all subsequent programs will be given at Convention Hall, 34th and Spruce Streets. Next Thursday at 8 p.m. there will be a film, "This High Calling," and on Friday the Westminster Choir College Chorus and the Robin Hood Dell orchestra will present a program of church music.

On Sunday, May 27, Dean James A. Pike of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, will speak on "The World Church in Our Land." Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches, will also speak. On the last two evenings, the Assembly will present Dr. Lynn J. White Jr., president of Mills College who will speak Monday at 8 p.m., and several church leaders representing five countries who will discuss on Tuesday at 8 p.m. the issues facing contemporary Christianity.

Friends Historical Tour. Princeton's Friends, conscious of the history behind their 18th century Meeting House, will act as hosts to the Friends Historical Association whose members are going on a tour of old Quaker homes this Saturday. Those who make the tour will cover parts of Bucks County in the morning and will come to Princeton early in the afternoon for visits to Nassau Hall, the Princeton Public Library building, and the "Barracks" on Edgehill Road, 18th century home of Lewis B. Cuyler. Through the offices of Governor Meyner, they will also tour Morven.

At 4 p.m., the group will gather at Stony Brook Meeting House for a talk by Bruce French, president of the Princeton Historical Society, who will give a brief history of the Meeting House.

"Ambassadors" of the Church. Seven missionaries of the Presbyterian church will join together in an open forum next Monday following a 6:45 p.m. dinner in the social room of the First Presbyterian church. The Mission Committee of the Session, Dr. William P. Fenn, chairman, is sponsoring both dinner and forum.

The forum members will be Dr. John C. Corbin, secretary of the division of interpretation and support of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Mission; Dr. Kyung Chik Han, pastor of the Young Nak Church, Seoul, Korea; the Rev. Alfonso Loreda, of Venezuela; Mrs. Kazuko Miyagi, teacher from Tokyo; Dr. Hodace W. Ryburn, Thialand; the Rev. Bilberto Gutierrez Terres, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Bogota, Colombia; and Mrs. Edwin E. Walline of Hongkong and Formosa.

Dinner reservations must be mailed or telephoned to the church office, 0103 before this Friday. No resrevations are needed for the forum which will begin at 8 p.m.

Missionary Tea and Speaker. The Pentecostal emphasis on mission service appears at the Methodist church in the form of a Missionary Tea for the Trenton and New Brunswick districts of the Woman's Society for Christian Service. The tea will be held next Monday at 8 p.m. at the Methodist church. Mrs. Jose L. Valencia of Manila, Philippine Islands, will be the speaker.

Mrs. Valencia is the current and and first national president of the W.S.C.S. in the Philippines. She represented her country in 1948 at the World Federation of Methodist Women at Boston. Her surveys in Okinawa made it possible to have a missionary sent there by the Philippine Woman's Society. The organization has a memberssip of about 8,000 women.

Bulletin Notes. "Finding True Security" is the subject of a Christian Science broadcast scheduled for this Sunday at 10:30 p.m. over station WCBS. The speaker will be Gordon H. Smith, Milwaukee. . . . The Baptist parsoage on Tee-Ar Place has a new pastor's study, converted from a garage. . . . Cornerstones were laid in the new St. Paul's Rectory and convent buildings last Monday. The simple ceremonies were conducted by the Rt. Rev. George Ahr, Bishop of the Trenton diocese.

REGULAR SERVICES

Trinity Episcopal. On this Whitsunday, the Feast of Pentecost, there will be Holy Communion at 11 a.m. with a sermon by the Rev. John V. Butler. There will also be Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and Family Eucharist at 9:30. Upper church school will meet at 9:30 and the lower school at 11 a.m. Evening prayer will begin daily at 5:15 p.m.

Lutheran of the Messiah. Holy Communion will be celebrated at both 8:30 and 11 a.m. services this Sunday, and the Rev. Richard Luecke will preach a sermon on "The Spirit and Your Promise". Bible classes will meet at 9:45 a.m.

Children of the Catechumen class will be presented this Friday at 8 p.m. The Women's Service League will meet this Thursday at 8:15 p.m. and the speaker will be Dr. Edward Lund of the Messiah congregation who will speak on "Some Spiritual Truths Illustrated by Cold Light".

Princeton Methodist. "Why the Early Church Prospered" is the subject of the 11 a.m. sermon this Sunday. The Rev. Charles W. Marker will preach. Sunday School will meet at 9:45.

First Baptist. The annual Women's Day service will be held this Sunday, and the preacher will be Mrs. John R. Stanford of Newark. She will speak at 11 a.m. and again at 8 p.m. and a special women's choir will sing at both services. Mrs. Jessie Grier and Mrs. Fred Burrell are in charge of the services.

Church school will meet at 9:30 a.m." and the Baptist Training Union at 6:45 p.m. Bible class will begin at 8 p.m. next Wednesday and there will be an hour of prayer on Wednesday starting at 8:30 p.m.

Calvary Baptist. The Rev. James H. Middleton will speak on "The Promise of the Christian Life" at 11 a.m. this Sunday.

There will be a mid-week service next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ken-ing of the Wyman Club Monday. Questions on specific garden problems will be answered at the meeting, which will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the Princeton University Engineering Lounge.

Stanley Sieja, Princeton University fencing coach, will present a fencing exhibition at the Father-Son Dinner of the Hamilton-Mercerville Area Young Men's Christian Association this Thursday. The dinner will be held at 6:15 p.m. at the Methodist Church in Hamilton Square.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Graves, 268 Stockton Road, will join a Finch College Alumnae party for a moonlight sail Thursday, May 24, aboard the yacht "Knickerbocker" on the Hudson River. Finch alumnae, their families and friends in this area may call Mrs. Graves (1-5884) for further information about the trip, which will benefit the Finch Alumnae Association.

Lawrenceville Topics

Dr. Light Honored. Headmaster Allan V. Heely, trustees and faculty members of Lawrenceville School paid tribute to Dr. Arthur Light at a dinner last night marking 25 years of service by the school's medical director.

Dr. Light, known to thousands of Lawrenceville boys and parents, joined the school in 1931 after 11 years as physician-in-chief for students in intercollegiate athletics at the University of Pennsylvania. He had also served for seven years as an instructor in physiology and medicine at Penn. Dr. Light studied at Lebanon Valley College and Lehigh University before graduating from the Pennsylvania medical school in 1918.

Democratic Women Organize. The Democratic Women's Activities in Lawrence Township was established at an organizational meeting this week and will welcome all interested women in the Township into its ranks.

The organization will meet for the first time on June 12, planning to hold a luncheon meeting at some central place on the second Tuesday of every month. Directors are Mrs. Ann McLean, Mrs. Nina Lord, Mrs. Ann Maseski, Miss Barbara Vosic, Mrs. Katherine Wisniewski and Mrs. Grace C. Fry.

Purposes are to stimulate a larger Democratic vote in Lawrence, interest more women in party activities, help increase Democratic registration and provide more information on local government, the latter through the projected "Lunch 'n' Learn" meetings.

Cub Pack Concludes Year. Lawrenceville Cub Scout Pack 27 wrapped up the current year with a pack meeting at which blue and red ribbons were awarded for exhibitions of things made during the past year. Judges were David Penrose, Herbert Kale and Robert Murray.

Awards to Cubs included wolf badges plus gold arrows to Monroe Schellinger and Blake Samson; gold and silver arrows to David Wakelin and Skip Hensler; bear badge to Jimmy Harris and lion to Jackie Bentley.

Scouting pins were presented to Andrew Kendrac, Mrs. R. G. Boetsma, Mrs. Monroe Schellinger, Mrs. S. A. Thompson, Mrs. Donald West, Mrs. John Peterson, all den parents, and to Mrs. John H. Dill, secretary-treasurer for the pack committee.

Field House Addition. Just as Lawrenceville School moves into its 150th Anniversary Program, it is expected that construction will start this fall on a new wing for the school's wonderful Lavino Field House.

Funds for the addition have been donated by Edwin M. Lavino, president of the board of trustees. It will be a duplicate of the present wing on the right side of the field house.

The structure will serve as a sports center for the lower school, including basketball courts, shower and locker rooms, and possibly a swimming pool and squash courts. It will open into the main field house and will accommodate proms in the future.
